- Recycling and circular economy
- Coastal and wetland protection
- Community environmental education
- Resource recovery and waste-to-value systems

20,000+ KG

Historical YSI public impact claim

Waste removed through documented field activity in Freetown. Field activity is documented; the original mass-calculation record is under reconstruction.

CURRENT PROJECT DIRECTIONS

WASTE PROJECT - PHASE 0

Evidence & Operational Design: intercept, measure, sort, recover, route, learn and decide what infrastructure - if any - is justified.

ABERDEEN CREEK

Baseline and ecological recovery planning focused on evidence, authority coordination, stressors, restoration options and decision gates.

OPERATING PRINCIPLE

FIELD EXPERIENCE -> MEASURE -> TEST -> DOCUMENT -> IMPROVE -> REPLICATE ONLY WHERE EVIDENCE SUPPORTS IT

YSI distinguishes completed work, documented evidence, current development, technical hypotheses and institutional engagement. Prospective organizations are not described as partners unless a real relationship exists.
